

Student Achievement

An Annotated Selection of Readings for School Leaders and Teachers

Reading by Title & Author	Annotated Comment	Link
The Arts Education Partnership	Critical Links reported on 62 separate research studies. See in particular the Compendium Summary: the Arts Academic and Social Outcomes where Catterall (pp 152-153) provides a useful table listing the arts learning in each subject area and the related cognitive capacities and motivations to learn.	Critical Links: Learning in the Arts and Student Academic and Social Development
Critical Evidence: How the Arts Benefit Student Achievement	This an updated, 24 page PDF summary of Critical Links that incorporates information on the more recent No Child Left Behind (NCLB) policy in the USA.	Critical Evidence: how the arts benefit student achievement
Australian Council for Educational Research: Victoria	Ewing's very timely report on state of the arts in Australian Schools: see Setting the Scene : an overview of the value of the arts by examples of international research studies. International research over the last decade : an overview of research into value of arts education in last ten years. Recent developments in	The Arts and Australian Education: Realising potential, Australian Education Review

	arts research methodologies: recent research into the value of arts education. The Arts as Critical Pedagogy: arts education successes in Australian schools.
The Arts Education Partnership and the President's Committee on Arts and Humanities	An important report: see especially the evaluation of the Chicago Arts Partnerships Education by Catterall and Waldorf on pp.47-63. The partnership developed arts-integrated curricula in 14 schools, in high-poverty neighbourhoods, and showed dramatic improvements in academic performance.	Champions of change: the impact of the arts on learning
DICE: Drama Improves Lisbon Key Competences in Education	An international EU-supported project, a cross-cultural research study investigating the effects of educational theatre and drama on five of the eight Lisbon Key Competences: Communication in the Mother Tongue, Learning to Learn, Interpersonal, Intercultural and Social Competences, Civic Competence, Entrepreneurship and Cultural Expression.	Drama Network

Doing well and doing good by doing art: The effects of education in the visual and performing arts on the achievements and values of young adults	Catterall's study provides important insights about the way learning in the arts transfers to other disciplines. Statistical tracking proves that intensive involvement in the arts during middle and high school is a foundation for higher levels of achievement and college attainment and also with adult civic participation.	Doing well and doing good by doing art: The effects of education in the visual and performing arts on the achievements and values of young adults
Creative Learning: People and Pathways	Thriving Minds is a project that provides creative learning programs and other academic support services to students in grade K-8 in classrooms, after-school programs and neighborhood facilities. Extensive research produced six important principles that describe how young people develop creatively and the pathways that promote creative growth.	Creative Learning: People and Pathways
The Australia Council and Northern Territory Education and the Arts Partnership Initiative	The Australia Council and Northern Territory Education and the Arts Partnership Initiative's research project sought to determine whether improved educational outcomes could be achieved	A pedagogy of trust: improving educational outcomes through partnerships

	by transforming the quality of relationships between teachers and students, teachers and their colleagues, and with school leadership and families. The results prove that engaged teaching and learning leads to improved educational outcomes for students.
--	---	--

© 2012 Education Services Australia Ltd, except where indicated otherwise. You may copy, distribute and adapt this material free of charge for non-commercial educational purposes, provided you retain all copyright notices and acknowledgements.p